

Abigail S. Knapp

M.S. Student, Hydrogeology
Water Resources and Remote Sensing Laboratory
Department of Geology, UGA

Abigail Knapp is a 2nd year grad student in her (hopefully) last semester at the University of Georgia. She is researching in the Water Resources and Remote Sensing Lab in the Geology Department. After graduation, Abby will seek work in the limnological and water resources science within a state agency. Other than hydrology, she enjoys ignimbrite petrography and collecting feldspars

January 2018